 to play the victim and 2 turns to play the victimizer. And by the

 to play the victimizer. And by the end, they had hoped, they would all that was the victims in the 1st round-that played the victim stances in that played the victim stances in the 1st round-they were the Bourgha-MUsalathat were the victims, I believe, were the other ones. Let's call them the Bourgha played the victimizers I believe in the 1st one. Yeah. And the ones that were the victims in the 1st one got to play the victimizers in to play the victimizers in the 2nd one. And every time there's a victim/time there's a victim/victimizer drama, whatever were the victims in one, actually become whatever were the victims in one, actually become more cunning and more evolved, in terms of being victimizers, than the ones who were the original victimizers. So the  were the original victimizers. So the Bourgha got to be victims in round 2.  got to be victims in round 2. And they were so devastated by what  consciousness in the victimizer stance that the control group couldn't reach them, and they  had played the victimizers before, but also the control group. And they took over that started the victim/victimizer drama experiment, that were part of that Ecka, but
